

Church Lads' & Church Girls' Brigade Ulster Regiment – Going Places!

Winter 2018/19

See that they be not forgotten

Centenary of the Armistice 1918/2018

Many CLCGB members were involved in Remembrance Events marking the end of the Great War. The CLCGB was represented at the Rededication of the Portadown War Memorial, 28th October, the Festival of Remembrance at the Waterfront Hall, 3rd November, and the televised Remembrance Service at St Anne's Cathedral, 11th November, when Prince Andrew was the special guest. At Belfast Cathedral our 4th Battalion Commanding Officer, Michael Warnock (left), carried one of the Royal British Legion Standards. Other cover pictures show Killinchy Company's Y Team making poppies and members of the Grange Company, Armagh, wearing period costume.

Lest We Forget

Fun, Faith & Fellowship

Above, Aghalee Company visited chicken houses to see how chickens start from an egg and end up on our dinner tables. Above right, Girls from Magherafelt Company were learning about the Armour of God. Right, Lads from St Paul's, Lisburn, enjoyed a night at Laser Quest.

Seagoe CLCGB Service on the Radio

Radio Ulster and RTE broadcast The Morning Service from Seagoe Parish Church, Portadown, on Sunday 21st October, a Service which featured Seagoe CLCGB's Enrolment. We must congratulate our Seagoe Companies and especially their Chaplain, Rev Canon Terence Cadden, left, for a fabulous broadcast.

Round Our Companies

Top, members of Broomhedge Company enjoyed a visit from the Ambulance Service while Christ Church, Lisburn, Company had a visit from the Fire & Rescue Service. Below, lads from Ballinderry Company made up several boxes for the Christmas Shoebox Appeal. Right, Girls from the Dobbin making shields as part of the Scripture Course and Martins from Seagoe's Killicomaine Section made Phillipine dolls.

Death of former NI Kitman

Northern Ireland football supporters will be saddened to hear that IFA kitman Derek McKinley has died. Derek was a former member of St Simon's CLB Company, Belfast, and took an interest in the Company all his life.
